

TCN-Russia is a leading redeveloper and value engineer of real estate

Focus

TCN-Russia is a young and innovative property company with a distinctive corporate culture dedicated to creating the right product in the right market for government and commercial clients. We reposition and redevelop property into vibrant and inspiring places for people to visit, work and live. Through creativity, design, realization and intensive management, we generate value for our occupiers and our investors.

Development

As developers, we bring value to local communities through experience in market research and analysis, city planning and architectural design, project execution and investment skills. As consultants, we advise local and international clients on urban planning challenges and development opportunities.

Consultancy

TCN-Russia provides strategic real estate consulting services assisting the public sector and private development community in the planning and execution of significant development projects. Our expertise lies in defining and managing the implementation of development concepts for mixed-use districts, redevelopment of underutilized properties and revitalization and expansion of affordable housing stock.
